Kenneth Berry, Son Building New Homes In Cottage Township

THE KENNETH BERRY'S are moving down from the top of the hill.

I was out there yesterday afternoon and I can vouch for the fact that the wind blows hard and cold up where their house stands, although the view is wonderful any way you want to look. They live in Cottage township a short distance to the south of Route 13.

Down the hill a piece, near the road, Mr. and Mrs. Berry are getting ready to build a modern home and when it gets to going up it'll go up in a hurry. I know, because yesterday morning the company started putting up a house just like it down the road a piece for their son, Lee Arthur Berry, and it will be up sometime today.

Both father and son are putting up identical prefab houses from Southern Homes at Marion. They're both three-bedroom structures and will have basements. Father Kenneth nearly had his foundation and basement ready.

The way they're doing it, after the foundation is ready, the company comes out and puts up the shell, including doors and windows, in a day or a little longer. The company furnishes the material for the inside but you have to get it finished yourself. And, of course, you take care of the plumbing, wiring and heating.

For the water system, Lee Arthur drilled himself a well which has lots of water and Kenneth Berry already has a fine one—one a coal company drilled for him. It was drilled many, many years ago when the land was leased for coal and the hole was drilled in the testing operations.

Kenneth, who is getting away from the natural air-conditioning high up on the hill, is installing an air-conditioning system in connection with his furnace.

I took a couple of pictures of Lee Arthur's house going up and if they turn out all right, I'll run one of them sometime else in today's paper.

BUS BOY: From the post paper at Tyndall Air Force Base, Panama City, Fla., where Robert Miley Jr. is a captain, comes the following story about the three-year-old son of the Mileys:

Hoist Auto from Bottom of Lake, Find Woman Alive

HIGHLANDS, N. C. (UPI)—Rescuers hoisted an automobile 45 minutes after it plunged to the bottom of a lake Thursday and found a 60-year-old woman still alive on the back seat. Two other occupants died.

Miss Bennie Marie Longmire of Bradford, Ill., saved by an air pocket inside the car, was hospitalized with severe shock. Her sister, Mrs. Pearl Harmon, and Mrs. Harmon's husband, Orion, 70, of Kewanee, Ill., were dead.

Rescuers said they had no idea that anyone was still alive when they set about pulling the car from the bottom of the lake.

Sam Jacobs, a state highway employee from Franklin, N. C., said he arrived in time to see the car in the lake after it ran off the road.

"I heard them hollering and then it just started nosing down under the water," Jacobs said.

By the time he had gotten help together and the car was hoisted, 45 minutes had elapsed.

Theda Bara, Silent Screen Siren, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Theda Bara, the silent screen siren who added cosmetics and the word "vamp" to the world, lost an 18-month battle to cancer Thursday night. She was 64.

After several operations for the intestinal ailment, the beauty who caused ministers to preach against her costumes in the early '20s lapsed into a coma 13 days ago.

She died alone in her room at California Lutheran Hospital shortly after a visit from her husband, former Director Charles Brabin, and her sister, Lori Bara. Nurses discovered her death.

Scheduled For Comeback

Theda Bara, still with the dark hair and pale face that electrified early film fans, had been a quiet Beverly Hills socialite since she retired from films in 1927. But at one time she was such a sensation that her white powder and mascaraed eyes started the fad for make-up.

Miss Bara retired from the screen 29 years ago, and her illness came just as Hollywood was planning a major "comeback" for her. Columbia Studio wanted to film her life story, "The Vamp," next fall. The actress consented to the making of the film only after two years of persuasion.

Born in Ohio

Theda Bara was born Theodosia Goodman in November, 1890, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She won small roles in plays and early Pathé movies in New York under the name of De Coppett. In 1915, she was selected to portray a vampire in "A Fool There Was."

Director Frank Powell changed her name to Theda (from her first name) Bara (after her grandmother's name, Barranger). He draped her dark hair around her white face and taught her to glower, look sleepy and breathe heavily with her nostrils dilated.

She was an overnight success and Fox Studios quickly starred her in "Forbidden Path," "Tiger Woman," and "Purgatory's Ivory Angel."

It was written that she had supernatural powers and "was evidence of man's corruptible nature." Her studio stated she had "the most wicked face in the world."

The public loved it, although ministers once condemned her costumes in "Cleopatra."

Thomas Story, 88, Dies; Funeral Sunday at 2 p.m.

Thomas Story, 88, who for many years was construction foreman of the O'Gara Coal Co., now the Sahara Coal Co., died today at 7:30 a.m. at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Denny, 1105 South McKinley. He had been ill for six weeks.

Mr. Story married Susan Robinson, who died in 1917 and in 1919 married Ona Wasson who preceded him in death, dying five years ago in November. He had made his home with Mrs. Denny for almost six years.

Before becoming foreman of the O'Gara mines Mr. Story was mine foreman of No. 4 mine and afterwards superintendent of Streets and Alleys in Harrisburg.

He leaves four children: Mrs. Denny, Eberty Story, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Elsie Archer, Bell, Calif.; and Mrs. Inez Synicky, Dearborn, Mich., and one sister, Mrs. Eva Hooker, North Vernon, Ind.

He was a member of the Charleston Street Church of God where the funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. Rev. Earl Fisher will conduct the service, and burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the Gibbons funeral home.

Dean Suggests U. S. Consider Two-China Policy

Would Recognize Reds Contingent on Guaranteed Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Arthur Dean, a former Eisenhower administration troubleshooter, has suggested that the United States consider a "two China" policy.

It would give diplomatic recognition to Communist China and, at the same time, maintain that Nationalist China has a valid and permanent title to Formosa.

Such consideration would be contingent on a guaranteed cease-fire between Communist and Nationalist China.

The policy also would consider admission of Red China to the United Nations if this could be done without appeasement and on some "effective basis for a lasting peace."

Nationalists Need Help

Dean also commented on a possible all-out war between the two Chinese governments. He said Nationalist China could not invade the mainland without "very sizeable and continuing American military support." This aid, he added, could set off a total war in which the United States itself would risk undergoing a "havoc-wreaking" nuclear weapons attack delivered either by Soviet Russia or by Red China using Russian nuclear weapons.

On the other hand, a stalemate war "would be a clear invitation" for the Reds "to invade the militarily weak and economically rich countries of Southeast Asia, stymie India, break the Korean armistice, attack Japan and threaten her with annihilation if she permitted us to use our bases there to launch attacks."

Dean's views on China policy, outlined in the current issue of Foreign Affairs, a private quarterly magazine, have created considerable discussion in official quarters.

Dean is a former law partner of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in the New York firm of Sullivan and Cromwell. He represented the United States and 16 other U. N. Allies in 1953-54 in negotiations on Korean political problems.

Dean has not had any official connection with the administration, however, for almost a year.

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Pius XII appeared in his Vatican study window today facing sunny St. Peter's Square and blessed thousands of Easter Pilgrims who came here from all over the world to observe Holy Week.

The frail, white-clad Pontiff made his unscheduled Good Friday appearance shortly after noon to acknowledge the insistent cheers of some 8,000 Romans and pilgrims who chanted "Vogliamo Il Papa" (We want the Pope).

Pope Pius, who spent much of the morning in prayer and meditation in the private chapel adjoining his bedroom, had not planned to appear in public on this saddest day of Christendom—Good Friday, the day Christ died on the cross.

But he finally yielded to the crowd's insistence.

Good Friday was begun in the Holy Land with the Mass of the Presanctified in the Chapel of Calvary and the annual solemn procession to the Stations of the Cross followed by solemn ceremonies at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

It began in Vatican City with bright sunshine that contrasted strikingly with the darkness that descended on the crucifixion scene on Mt. Calvary that spring day nearly 2,000 years ago.

Thousands of Romans and pilgrims from the far corners of the earth flocked to Rome's 445 churches for the sorrowful Good Friday services.

Winters and Reeder were arrested following the robbery of the Miller service station at the Equality "Y" about noon Tuesday, Aug. 10, of last year.

The station attendant, Cletis Butler, noted the license number of the automobile used for the get away after he had been slugged and robbed of approximately $50 by two boys around noon August 10.

Gallatin and Saline county officers joined in a search and Winters and Reeder were arrested in mid afternoon the same day. They readily admitted to the robbery. Sheriffs P. C. Cox and Paul Spanier, former sheriffs of Gallatin and Saline counties respectively, stated that at day.

The two will be taken to Menard early next week to start serving the sentence, it was stated today.

Autos Collide

Cars driven by Judy Belt and Alma Downen of Harrisburg collided yesterday afternoon at South Granger and College streets. The cars were damaged but there were no injuries. Judy's mother, Mrs. John Belt, was with her in the car. The Belt car was travelling south on Granger and the Downen car west on College when the crash occurred.

THE NEW HARRISBURG METHODIST CHURCH—Services will be conducted for the first time Easter Sunday in the sanctuary of the newly completed Methodist church. The brick structure of colonial architecture, contains 446,000 cubic feet of space. The spire rises 85 feet from the first step of the portico. The sanctuary, with balcony, will seat 450. The connecting section between the sanctuary and the education building consists of a chapel, church parlor, corridor, and two offices. The education building has a large assembly room and many classrooms. Harrisburg Methodists last worshiped in their own church sanctuary Easter Sunday 1954 in the old building. Rev. W. L. Cummins is pastor of the church. (Register Staff Photo)

President Feels Security Hurt By Circulation

Eisenhower's Views Disclosed By Press Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower feels that technical U. S. military information has been publicly circulated to the detriment of national security, the White House said today.

Mr. Eisenhower's views were disclosed by Press Secretary James C. Hagerty when questioned about a Defense Department directive which has closed down the flow of much news from the Pentagon.

Hagerty refused to discuss the Defense Department directive, as such, but outlined for reporters Mr. Eisenhower's views on the subject.

"The President has never believed in censorship of legitimate news," Hagerty said.

"However, he also has always believed that there is no reason to make available to the enemy technical military secrets which, by their issuance, could do nothing but hurt the interests of the United States."

"To that extent, and only to that extent, would he ask that that sort of information be withheld from general circulation."

Time for Preparation

Editorial — BY BRUCE BIASSET

A four-power conference involving the United States, Russia, Britain and France now seems a virtual certainty. Soviet Premier Bulganin's approval of the idea sets the stage for a meeting sometime this spring.

France and Britain evidently will approach such a conference with considerably more optimism than the United States, which throughout the postwar era has consistently maintained a healthier skepticism toward Russian actions.

We imagine that the Kremlin will not abandon its efforts to thwart German rearmament and entry into NATO simply because France and Germany have now endorsed the Paris pacts authorizing those steps. We can foresee that Russia might try to damage several attractive carrots before the European nations exchange for delay or shelving of German rearmament plans.

Consequently, the West ought to agree that any date for a conference be fixed to come after all remaining countries involved have ratified the Paris pacts and the Bonn government actually has taken its seat on the NATO council.

That much, at least, should be achieved before we sit down with the Russians. Rearmament, of course, is a matter of much more time, and only the barest administrative preliminaries could conceivably be launched in the next few months.

Beyond setting this condition, the three Western participants in big power meeting should plan definitely to assemble prior to the fuller conference to seek a firm unity of policy among themselves.

And all three should clearly take extreme pains in preparation. There is utterly no excuse for any of the three, and particularly for the United States, the acknowledged leader of the Western bloc, to enter a major top-level parley without the most detailed advance study.

One of the principal lessons of the controversial Yalta conference was that when close friends do not build a solid front in advance, another nation may play one of them off against the other.

A second lesson was that much damage can follow from inadequate preparation. One does not need to accept the word of chronically carping politicians that this situation prevailed at Yalta. High-ranking diplomats have testified that the United States did its home-work very badly.

There is no place at any serious international meeting for glib, capricious and casual handling of world problems, whether they be small or large. You do not play a friendly game of checkers with other peoples' lives and with national borders.

If we wait until Germany is within the NATO circle, as we must in all good sense, then there is plenty of time to get ready for the next meeting with the Soviet Union. We ought to make full use of every minute.

A Fine Demonstration

Let no one imagine that because 19 of 23 persons aboard survived, the crash of a Pan American Stratocruiser off the Oregon coast was a minor air incident. It had all the potentialities of total disaster.

Preliminary reports indicate the big ship was subjected to a sudden terrific buffeting by the wind, which tore one of four motors loose from its mounting and sent the engine plunging into the sea. Thereafter the plane lost altitude and within eight minutes the pilot had ditched in the ocean.

Despite the suddenness of the crisis, the crew performed calmly and capably in getting passengers out of the plane and preparing life rafts and other emergency equipment. Several passengers exhibited high courage, especially Mrs. David Darrow, who saw her husband drift away and drown but kept attending other passengers.

And a word should be said for the alert air defense radar crew which tracked the plane to its crash spot, and the Navy vessel which managed speedy rescue.

All around, a fine demonstration of how to meet an emergen-

Mrs. Clara Campbell Hostess to Past Noble Grands Club

On Friday evening, April 1, the Past Noble Grands club of Comfort Rebekah Lodge No. 48 was entertained by Mrs. Clara B. Campbell at her home.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Addie Ramsey. The theme song was sung by the entire group, and the devotion given by Mrs. Thelma O'Neal was on the origin of the Easter lily and on the resurrection of Christ which she read from Matt. 27 beginning with the 57th verse. She also read from Matt. 28.

A poem was read in remembrance of a faithful and devoted member of the club, Mrs. Eva Arnold, who passed away in April of 1954. The song, "The Evening Prayer," was sung and prayer was offered by Mrs. Dottie Davis.

Roll call was answered with a scripture verse. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

At the close of the business meeting Bible Lotto was enjoyed by Mesdames Jane Pankey, Thelma O'Neal, Nellie Cast, Dottie Davis, Gladys Pankey, Martha Hood, Adie Ramsey, Ella Chase and Miss Carrie B. Wasson and Judy Dale Pankey. Ray O'Neal was present at the close of the meeting.

Delicious refreshments of chicken pie, deviled eggs, lime jello salad, hot rolls, hot coffee and Coke with cherry chiffon pie for dessert and favors of Easter candy were served at a long table in the dining room.

Written contests were held and prizes were won by Gladys Pankey, Alma Jean Van Hoy and Maggie McCutcheon.

Carrier Mills P.T.A. Has April Meeting

The Carrier Mills grade school P.T.A. held its April meeting Monday night.

The nominating committee announced the following officers which were elected for the school year 1955-56: President, Mary Virginia Beagle; vice president, Mary Street; secretary, Mable Sadler; and treasurer, Van Parsons.

Mrs. Brackney introduced the following music students who performed: Janis Dunaway who played a saxophone solo; Jo Catherine Guldridge and Marlyn Jameson who sang a duet; and Kathryn Matthews who sang "Easter Parade" accompanied by Candace.

The answer will be probed by Senator Magnuson of Washington, head of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee. He suspects the Beaumont Broadcasting Co. saw the handwriting on the wall, feared the Hobby political influence and "moved over" rather than face a new decision likely to go against it.

Note—Prior to her entry into the Eisenhower cabinet, Mrs. Hobby was also an active executive in the Hobby newspaper-radio-TV interests.

Almost 70 per cent of National Guardsmen are between 17 and 21 years of age. Less than five percent are over 35 years old.

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois common schools, now collecting several million dollars a year for non-teaching days, could claim state aid for still more "do-nothing" days under a bill before the Legislature.

Payment of state aid to schools for holidays and teacher institute days has long been an accepted practice. But most educators oppose expanding the "legal" deception.

Actually, public schools are paid more by the state for a holiday than for the average working day.

The amount of state aid is based on "average daily attendance." Attendance on a normal school day will run from 90 to 95 per cent of total enrollment. But on holidays and teacher institute days schools report all pupils "in attendance."

"This means they get 10 per cent more money for loafing than for working," said Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh (R-Champaign), Illinois School Problems Commission chairman.

Falder Sponsors Bill

Clabaugh led other education leaders in opposing a bill that would give children still more authorized days off. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Everett L. Falder (D-Macomb), provides that when any legal school holiday falls on Saturday or Sunday, the following Monday is observed as a holiday by schools.

Under present law, schools in operation nine months of the year must be in session 185 days.

Busy Fingers Home Bureau Holds Meeting

The Busy Fingers Home Bureau met Tuesday April 5, at the home of Aline Stone.

The home adviser, Mary Harper, gave the lesson, "Neck Finishes, Collars and Fitted Facings," and the minor topic, "Using Left Over Breads," was presented by Colleen Edmondson.

After games were played refreshments were served to Mrs. Jo Gilchrist, Mrs. Bonell Haford, Mrs. Marcheta Clore, Mrs. Marcell Sutton, Mrs. Ruby Kimmel, Mrs. Colleen Edmondson.

"An 'act of God' legally means a circumstance that the kind of men cannot reasonably foresee," Hutson said. "In 12 years we've only granted claims under this condition three or four times."

Hutson said a weather catastrophe has to be grave before a school to an "act of God." He said can claim aid for days closed due to snowstorms and rainstorms can be foreseen." He said he remembered a "couple of floods and a tornado" that were ruled acts of God.

"I once ruled a bad snowstorm wasn't a legal 'act of God,'" Hut-

Jan. 1, Feb. 12, Good Friday, May 30, July 4, Labor Day, Nov. 11 and Dec. 25.

Clabaugh said these holiday school aid claims are paid although there is a legal question whether schools can collect for days off when the law defines "in session" as four clock hours per day.

At least four of these holidays—Jan. 1, Feb. 12, May 30 and Nov. 11—could fall on a weekend in most school terms. Whereas they would not affect attendance under present law, Falder's bill would give students an extra day off for these "weekend" holidays.

Clabaugh points out the state will be spending nearly $200,000,000 for equalization aid to schools in 1955-56. This is $100,000,000 a year, or more than $55,000 per school day.

IEA Takes No Stand

Regardless of how many teacher institute days and holidays are observed, nine month schools must actually be in session 178 days barring "acts of God."

Irving F. Pearson, executive secretary of the Illinois Education Assn., said the IEA has taken no stand on the Falder bill, "but we will not support it."

Pearson defended the payment of state aid to schools for legal holidays and teachers institute days during the working week.

"If private industry keeps paying employees for holidays and for job training then teachers should be paid for these things, too, he said.

N. E. Hutson, legal advisor in the office of the superintendent of public instruction, said that office has been strict in permitting schools to collect state aid on days when they claimed they were closed by an "act of God."

Oil Production in State at Highest Level in 11 Years

SPRINGFIELD (IP)—Illinois oil production has hit the highest level in 11 years, it was reported today. John C. Frye, chief of the State Geological Survey, said output in March reached 212,000 barrels a day, highest since 1944.

The figure was 35,000 barrels a day above production a year ago.

Frye said 223 wells were completed during March, an average of about 60 a week compared with 45 a week a year earlier.

He said signs at the end of the first quarter of 1955 indicate it will be a "considerably better" year than 1954, which was the fourth best year since the Illinois basin opened in 1937.

Frye said one new pool and an extension to a pool were discovered in March. The new pool is Elton in Washington county, and the extension was to the Exchange East pool in Marion county.

The report listed the Eldorado area in Saline county as continuing to be the top Illinois area for oil activity.

Pint-Size Fashions for Easter

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—So much has been written about the practicality and washability of nylon that fashions sometimes tend to get lost in the shuffle.

In pointing out that a small girl's dress need only be rinsed out and hung up to drip dry, we forget that the way a dress looks on is important, too. The chief purpose is to make the wearer appear as attractive as possible.

Fortunately, today's fashions in synthetics meet all demands on all counts. They're pretty, they're becoming, they're just what a small girl would like to dress up in on, say, an Easter Sunday. And when the day is ended, they can be rinsed out along with mother's slip and look fresh and sparkling on Monday morning.

This year's high fashion color, lilac, is used for the tiny flowers scattered (left) on this white nylon plisse dress by Cinderella. Sash is lilac velvet ribbon and wide collar is edged in lace.

Quaint little girl dress in pink nylon (right) has gray eyelet nylon top. Pink velvet sashes in the very full skirt.

Democrats Win Control of Gallatin Board

Democrats took all five township supervisor races in Gallatin county this week, assuming control of the board by a seven to three margin. All three Republicans were elected to office in 1953.

Those elected supervisors were Ralph Colbert, Eagle Creek Twp.; Orval Allen, New Haven Twp.; C. L. Clayton, Shawnee Twp.; Eugene F. Duffy, Ridgway Twp.; and E. L. McGuire, Asbury Twp.

Philip Mulvey, Democrat, defeated Cecil Milligan for Equality township road commissioner, in the only race in that township.

Gallatin county community high schools at Equality, Ridgway and Shawneetown, as well as the grade schools throughout the county, were on vacation today, observing Good Friday.

The high schools at Equality and Shawneetown will be in session Monday.

About Town And Country

a warm, cozy feeling from this story.

"It seems there was a young man, age three, named Robert Miley, who had a burning desire to go to school. One fine day he hoped aboard his sister's school bus and away he went.

"Half-way to school the stowaway was denounced by all persons, his own sister, Barbara. In her getaway cowboy garb he was brought before authority in the name of one A-3 Lee Chenault. But Lee, a fine Ohio boy, appreciated the longings of his young passenger to see the world and no charges were placed against Master Bob. He was given a sort of parole. Each day he reported for the bus, gave his cowboy brand and hopped aboard to ride around while Lee picked up the school children. On the way back he was returned to his mother, Donna.

"A wonderful friendship grew up between bus driver Chenault and Bobby. There were small salty tears when Lee was transferred but Bob's dad had arranged with his replacement, A-2 Wilson Fisher, to continue the parole rides for Bobby."

Oil Production in State at Highest Level in 11 Years

SPRINGFIELD (IP)—Illinois oil production has hit the highest level in 11 years, it was reported today. John C. Frye, chief of the State Geological Survey, said output in March reached 212,000 barrels a day, highest since 1944.

Frye said 223 wells were completed during March, an average of about 60 a week compared with 45 a week a year earlier.

Reds Station
Jets in Striking
Range of Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Communist China has stationed at least 40 Russian-built MIG-15 jet fighters at newly completed Luchiao Airport within striking range of Matsu and Formosa, Nationalist newspapers reported today.

An American military spokesman would neither confirm nor deny the report. Chinese official sources said, "The Communists have completed Luchiao and it is highly possible they have stationed planes there."

The presence of Communist jets could herald a new crisis in the Formosa Strait since it would mark the first time they have had such planes within effective flying range of Formosa.

High-ranking Nationalist authorities said earlier the Communists were "definitely" building up their air potential opposite Formosa. It was predicted once the Communists massed sufficient airpower a battle would break out for air supremacy over the Formosa Straits.

Rescue Boy and Girl from Auto
In River 34 Hours

BRISTOL, N. H. (UPI) — A boy and a girl, trapped 34 hours in a car half-submerged in river rapids, were rescued today.

Alfred Paine Jr., 16, and Nancy Willey, 15, huddled beneath a blanket and read comic books during their bone-chilling ordeal in the frigid Smith river.

The youngsters were on a date Wednesday night when their rumble-seat couple swerved off a highway and plowed into the river. The relentless current pulled them down stream.

They sat in the car, boxed in by water which swirled around the fenders and licked at the windows. The water pressure locked the doors.

The car seat was dry but water seeped up through the floorboard, wetting the youngsters' feet. They feared they would drown if they tried to escape through the windows and swim the strong current to shore.

Defense Dep't
To Publicize
M'Arthur Views

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department said today it will make public "relevant" information concerning Gen. Douglas MacArthur's views in February, 1945, on Russian entry into the war against Japan.

The department said release of the material would be made "expeditiously," but set no specific date for public disclosure.

The department said it might not make full disclosure of official documents as MacArthur has insisted should be done.

MacArthur, Southwest Pacific commander in 1945, has contended he would have opposed Russian entry "at that late date" if anyone had sought his views at the time of the Yalta conference.

An Army historian, Louis Morton, has contended that MacArthur was "thoroughly in favor" of Russian participation.

C. Herschel Schooley, Defense Department spokesman, said that the information "conceivably could be a narrative without complete inclusion of source documents."

MacArthur has insisted that papers bearing on events prior to Yalta should be made public.

The Yalta agreement of February, 1945, provided that Russia would enter the war against Japan three months after the end of the war in Europe. The war ended in Europe May 7, 1945. Russia declared war against Japan on Aug. 8, Japan, reeling under two U. S. atomic bomb attacks, surrendered Aug. 14.

Dionne Family to Share Emilie Estate

NORTH BAY, Ont. (UPI) — The late Emilie Dionne's share of the quintuplets' one-million-dollar fortune will be divided among the remainder of the family when the guardianship act expires on the quint's 21st birthday May 28.

Emilie died last August. Her parents and the 11 surviving children, including the other quints, will share in the approximately $200,000 she would have received.

Olivia Dionne and the family attorney, Richard Donnelly, confirmed that the famous girls have an estate of "very close to one million dollars." It was earned from endorsements and feature syndicate contracts.

The money has been kept in trust by the Supreme Court of Ontario under terms of the guardianship act.

All firemen and equipment were pressed into action to fight the blaze at the foundry. Flames were visible for six to eight miles before the fire was brought under control.

Firemen had been called to extinguish a small fire at the foundry Thursday and it was considered likely that smouldering embers flared up again after the night shift had gone home.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

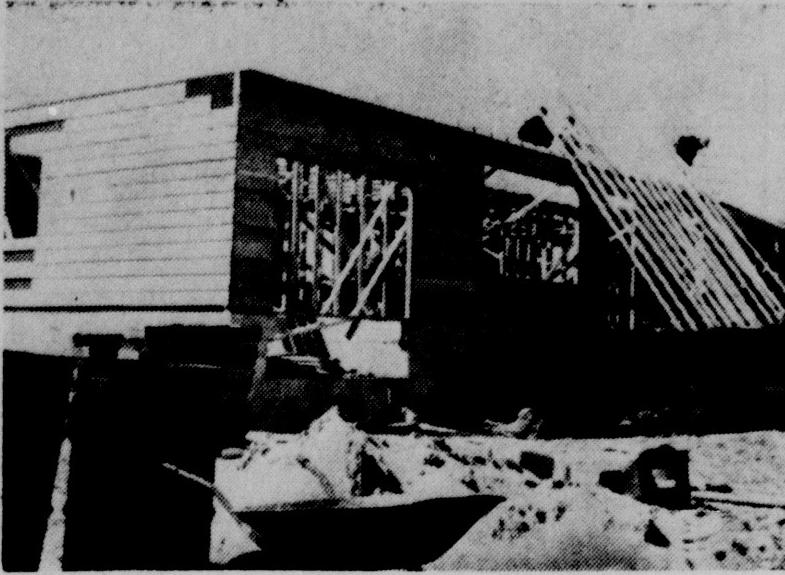

Watch the general traffic scene ahead of you, rather than concentrating on details close to you, whether you are driving in city traffic or on the open highway.

This method will give you an opportunity to see in advance traffic situations which may require you to slow down or stop, and you will be able to make whatever adjustment is necessary smoothly and in time to avoid a crash. You will find that a great many sudden stops or turns are eliminated.

Watching ahead on the highway will enable you to see a slow-moving vehicle pull into your traffic lane from a side road, in city traffic you will see a traffic signal turning to red or a pedestrian starting to cross the street. If you are watching the street or highway only a few yards ahead of your car, by the time you become aware of those dangerous situations you will have to jam on your brakes to prevent a collision. Give yourself a break. Look ahead and be prepared sooner.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

To Test Effects of Truck Weights on Illinois Highways

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 12-million-dollar test program to measure the effects of various truck weights on roads and bridges will be conducted in Illinois, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks announced today.

Weeks said the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads will cooperate with state highway departments, the Department of Defense and the automotive, petroleum and tire industries in staging the tests.

They will be made on a four-lane divided highway to cost three million dollars. It will be constructed as part of an eight-mile relocation of U. S. 6 between Ottawa and La Salle, Ill.

Test features will be financed from the joint state fund contributed by the several highway departments. Industry has contributed three million dollars for test vehicles and equipment.

The research is sponsored by the American Association of State Highway Officials and will be under direction of the highway research board of the National Academy of Sciences.

Results of the tests will be used for regulating loads for the protection of existing highways and the designing standards for future roads.

Corsi Shocked at Dulles Decision
To Drop Him

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edward J. Corsi said today he was shocked and surprised by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' decision to drop him as adviser on refugee problems—a job Dulles gave him three months ago with President Eisenhower's blessing.

Corsi was scheduled to see Dulles this afternoon and to have a telephone conference with a White House aide to find out why he is being dropped.

Informed sources said Dulles will issue a statement later "regretting" that the Corsi appointment is being terminated as of Sunday and offering Corsi another job in the State Department.

The White House said it had no hand in the decision to drop Corsi, who has come under fire from Chairman Francis E. Walter of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Walter has charged Corsi with past association with Communist-front organizations.

Corsi and the State Department previously had denied Walters' charges. Corsi vehemently denied the charges again today, saying "I was never a member of any subversive organization."

The first inkling that Corsi was about to be dropped came at Dulles' news conference Tuesday when he said that the Corsi appointment was temporary—for 90 days.

The 90 days are up Sunday. Corsi told the United Press he was amazed when he read Dulles' news conference statement.

"Nobody ever told me it was temporary," Corsi said. "If they had told me that it was for only 90 days, I never would have come down here. And I certainly wouldn't have leased a house—as I did only last week."

State Department reporters recalled that when Dulles announced Corsi's appointment last Dec. 30 there was no mention that it would be for 90 days.

Scientists to Study Effects
Of A-Radiation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Science set out today to establish, once and for all, the facts about what atomic radiation does to man, animals, and plants.

The vast project was undertaken by the National Academy of Sciences with the Rockefeller Foundation's financial backing and the Atomic Energy Commission's blessings.

It will be carried out by eminent scientists who will try to find out all that can be learned about effects of A-bomb and H-bomb explosions on living things.

The study, an academy spokesman said, should disclose where the truth lies between those who preach atomic doom and those who uncritically retort "nonsense."

Among other things it ought, he said, to liquidate the current controversy over whether the nuclear test weapons already exploded have cast a genetic blight on the race of man which will manifest itself generations hence in the form of human defectives.

The study will last as long as necessary. At its conclusion the academy will report its findings to the public.

Strike Ends

By United Press

Labor turmoil eased today as 33,000 CIO rubber workers ended a week-old strike and hopes brightened for the settlement of a crippling rail walkout.

But the refusal of 725 AFL bus drivers to take to the roads forced thousands of Easter holiday travelers to seek other transportation in a 10-state Eastern area.

And negotiations between General Motors and the CIO United Auto Workers resumed under a renewed threat of a strike unless the union gets some form of guaranteed annual wage.

Meanwhile, alleged vandalism in the 26-day-old Southern Bell Telephone strike brought a union official and two other men into court on cable-dynamiting charges.

The rubber walkout ended suddenly at New York when the CIO union and the United States Rubber Co. reached a contract agreement. The strikers started to go back to work on the midnight shift Thursday night.

The strike had affected 19 U. S. Rubber plants throughout the nation and had put a crimp in General Motors' tire supplies.

Allstate announced Thursday that its proxies for 8,000 shares of Ward's stock would go to Avery in his fight against financier Louis Wolfson for control of Montgomery Ward.

"Tomorrow," said Johnny, "you can eat that small change. And the limping goose bank, too. Although I suggest you use some salt and pepper on it. I imagine your stomach is pretty tough, but the bank is made of bronze and it may be hard for even you to digest."

"Get out of here!" cried Alice Cummings. "Baby," said Johnny, "I'm going."

He opened the door and went toward the elevator. She ran after him. "Wait!" she called.

Johnny punched the button for the elevator. "A rivederci! Auf wiedersehen—goodby."

The elevator door opened. "Forty thousand? Tell Mr. Carmichael I'll take forty thousand . . ."

Johnny grinned nastily and pushed the "down" button.

On the first floor he walked thru the lobby, winking at the switchboard operator. Outside the apartment house, Kilkenny stood by the door. And at the curb was the Lucky Clover taxicab, with Harry Flanagan standing by the door.

"All right, Fletcher," Flanagan sang out. "I'm through monkeying around with you."

Kilkenny closed in from the side. "Now, you and me are going to have this out!" he snarled.

Johnny danced aside. "Do you know each other? You're both being played for suckers by Alice Cummings."

Flanagan and Kilkenny had apparently never met before. Both looked at each other with hostile eyes.

"Who're you?" barked Flanagan. "Punk!" sneered Kilkenny.

"Goodby, now," called out Johnny. He turned and ran swiftly down the street. Both Flanagan and Kilkenny made as if to take after him, but each was suspicious of the other. When he reached the corner, Johnny stopped and looked back.

Flanagan and Kilkenny were facing each other, both gesticulating angrily.

Sam Cragg was free, but he was 35 miles from New York City, without a nickel in his pocket. And the Law was after him.

They'd be after him. He walked swiftly up a street, cut through an alley and saw railroad tracks. This was safer than the highway, he thought.

Of course he had no money, but Johnny and he had ridden the rods in the days of old.

A long platform was ahead of him. There were two or three people waiting for a train. Sam went up to one of the men. "When does the next freight train go through here?" he asked politely.

"Freight train? I don't think I've ever seen a freight train on this line."

"All railroads have freight trains," insisted Sam. "How else would they move their freight?"

"Search me. All I know is that there's my train coming right now."

A train, pulled by an electric engine, rolled smoothly into the depot. The few passengers on the platform began to board it. Sam looked around him, caught sight of a blue uniform at the far end of the platform. He sprang for the steps of a car, scrambled in. The train began to move. Sam went in and found a seat. The conductor entered the front of the car, scanned the tickets of the passengers, stuck into the metal wedges beside the windows. He took a ticket from a new passenger, came down to Sam.

"Ticket?" "Uh, didn't you get my ticket at the last station?"

"I don't believe so," said the conductor. "I'd have left the slip there." The conductor indicated the ticket wedge by Sam's window. It was empty.

"I was sure I gave it to you," grumbled Sam.

"I'm sorry, you didn't." Sam began to search his pockets. Deliberately he explored his coat pockets, then stood up and went through his trousers pockets. The conductor waited patiently.

"I know I bought a ticket," Sam insisted.

"You may find it later."

"Yeah, sure—I'll give it to you later. When I find it."

"I'm afraid I'll have to have it now. Or the price."

"How much is it?"

Little David Gives New Shoes To Easter Bunny

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI)—The Easter bunny had no shoes.

The predicament of the rabbit in the department store window weighed heavily on the conscience of little David Sundo, 3, as he stood outside.

It was especially disconcerting to the youngster because he had come to town from nearby Aspinwall, Pa., Thursday to buy new shoes.

His mother, Mrs. Anthony Sundo, purchased footgear for him and his 1-year-old brother, Rodger, and as a reward for good behavior, she allowed David to carry the package home.

Looking at the poor rabbit in the window display, the little man of the Sundo family came to a quick decision. When his mother summoned him to leave, he placed the package on the windowsill and walked away.

At the parking lot where they had left their automobile Mrs. Sundo noticed the package of shoes was missing.

"The Easter bunny didn't have any shoes, so I gave him ours," David announced.

Mrs. Sundo rushed back to the busy downtown corner. The package was gone.

"I can't punish him, especially at Easter time," she said. The lost purchase had taken $12.50 from her budget.

David was not worried over the loss. He had made his Easter sacrifice.

The word "policeman" was enough for Sam.

Tribe, Braves Will Whoop to Flags

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Who do you like in the baseball races?

A lot of things can happen over a stretch of 154 games, but this is the open season for sticking out red necks, and this is the way they look to an old handicapper after a tour of the training fronts:

NATIONAL	AMERICAN
Brewers	Indians
Budgers	Yankees
Giants	White Sox
Cardinals	Tigers
Phillies	Red Sox
Reds	Senators
Cubs	Orioles
Pirates	Athletics

THE BRAVES, in their third season at Milwaukee, are picked for a number of strong reasons. Observed at Bradenton, Fla., Charley Grimm's team seemed headed for a big year, mainly because of Henry Aaron, Ed Mathews and a big and deep pitching staff. Look for Aaron, 289 last year, to have the kind of a season they pay off on. Mathews hit .40 home runs last year and was at .390 when things ended. He should be far better this time out. The pitching — Warren Spahn, Gene Conley, Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl et al — is winning stuff.

It will not be a breeze, however, for the entire league is solidified, with the World Champions Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers making it close.

THE AMERICAN LEAGUE is different. Cleveland's Indians won 111 games last year, exclusive of the World Series, and they have added Herb Score, a southpaw who should win a bundle. To this deep-thinking expert, it means a run-away.

Cleveland, with its overpowering burling, figures to almost shut out the five American League novices. The Yankees and White Sox don't have the depth to do this. Each time they drop a game to, say, Boston, it will be simply handing Cleveland another length lead.

HAVING ESTABLISHED THE winners, we'll turn to the also-rans in the National League. Brooklyn made it close enough against the Giants last year and with Roy Campanella and Don Newcombe supposedly in shape, Walt Alston's club figures to top the Giants this year.

This does not mean that Brooklyn has the overall depth to handle the Braves. Plus the fact that Milwaukee's Conley merely has to toss his glove onto the field and the Bums are beaten.

The Giants seem to rise and fall on Alvin Dark's opinion. Last year he said they'd win if second baseman Davey Williams' back held up. It did. This year he said the Polo Grounders needed another right-handed pitcher. They don't have it. So, despite Willie Mays, the Giants are rated third.

THE CARDINALS are improved and with Stan Musial always are tough. Ken Boyer at third and Bill Virdon in the outfield help. But once past Harvey Haddix and Brooks Lawrence, the pitching bogs down.

The Phillies once had two hurlers, but with Curt Simmons apparently shot, only Robin Roberts is left to front for an outfit which can't get the big runs for you.

If Birdie Tebbetts had even one major league pitcher, his Ted Kluszewski "murderers' row" would be awesome. But Birdie doesn't have any hurling at all.

The Cubs suffered badly when Solly Drake, the man counted on to solidify a poor field, snapped his ankle. That leaves only Hank Sauer as an established ballplayer out there.

PITTSBURGH IS RATED LAST, but the Bucs would be fifth place stuff in the AL. If second baseman Gene Freese's knee holds up, he and Dick Groat, at short, will throw out more guys than a night club bouncer.

And it was a triumph of conservatism. Never gambling even once, the transplanted Texan who now plays out of Kiamichi Lake, N. Y., concentrated on reaching the mammoth greens in such a way to leave himself the best possible putting lie.

The 11th was his only bogey of a round that included four birdies in five holes on the incoming nine and gave him a score that nobody had a chance to equal and few to come close.

Mike Souchak, muscular ex-Duke football star who leads the 1955 money winners, and Julius Boros, a fellow North Carolinian of equal physical proportions, both had 71s — a stroke under par.

And four stars were right behind at par 72. They were Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, erstwhile Army dentist; Byron Nelson, twice winner of the Masters in the golden days before World War II; defending champion Sam Snead who came home in par despite his own this year. And the Athletics will be a sight to see.

Burke sank an eight-foot putt on the second hole to start his great round. With par on the other first nine holes, he just missed a three-footer on the ninth which would have put him two under.

He got in two and down in two on the 13th just before Sneed required eight strokes (eight, count 'em) on the same test. It was the same hole, incidentally, where Sneed gambled a year ago and got on the green, instead of in the trap, to edge Ben Hogan in a play-off for the crown.

The game was called after five innings of the tune-up for the annual contest which will be held in Washington in June. The 64 congressional on hand were tired from sightseeing.

While several weary solons chose to sit in the grandstand most got into the act. Hitters and runners were substituted freely by both sides.

One new independent of the congressional ranks cropped up, at least as far as baseball is concerned, when Rep. Frank Clark (D-Pa.) decided to play catcher for both sides for four innings.

Reps. Alfred Sieminski of New Jersey and Patrick Hillings of California led the attack for the Democrats with a three-base hit each, the longest hits of the game.

Rep. Torbert H. McDonald of Massachusetts, starting pitcher for the Democrats gave up seven hits in four innings. GOP hurler Rep. Glenn Davis of Wisconsin allowed six hits in going the route.

Giants Defeat Indians to Gain Tie for Series; Mays Is in Batting Slump

DANVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Willie Mays' batting slump was the only worry Leo Durocher had today as his world champion New York Giants picked up the Boston Red Sox in the way north and said farewell to the Cleveland Indians.

In 5-Inning Tilt

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, visitors over Galatia high in an earlier baseball game, beat the Bearcats, 26 to 0, at Taylor Field yesterday afternoon.

The locals banged out 23 hits in winning, two of them home runs. There also were two triples and four doubles hit by the locals.

Big hitter in the local lineup was a freshman, Ray Hassett of Mudville, who hit for the cycle. The young catcher hit a home run, triple, double and single in five times at bat.

Russ McDowell got the other home run, Ken Spurlock the other triple, and David Reese, Jim Cummins and Wayman Hefner got the other doubles.

Reese had four out of five, Hefner and Spurlock had three out of five, and Cummins and Don Price two out of four.

The contest was a five-inning affair. Harrisburg scored 13 in the first, two in the third and 11 in the fourth.

Galatia was held to one hit, Darrel Powell going the first four innings and Hatcher the fifth. They had 13 strikeouts between them.

West Frankfort comes to Harrisburg for a contest next Thursday afternoon.

Kansas City collected only four hits, including a homer by Vic Power.

The two teams meet here again today with Pittsburgh holding a 7-4 edge in the spring series.

Nashua is 'Big Horse' to Watch For Kentucky Derby on May 7

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Kentucky Derby is only a month away, so here is a rundown on the horses to watch in the days preceding America's premier horse race at Churchill Downs, May 7.

NASHUA: The "big horse" for the Derby both in size and ability. Stands almost 17 hands in his racing shoes and 8-5 in the future book. Owned by the Belair Stud of New York and trained by 80-year-old Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who has saddled three Derby winners for Belair. His regular jockey is Eddie Arcaro, who has a record of five Derby winners to his credit.

SUMMER TAN: The last horse to beat Nashua, having turned the trick in last year's Cowdin Stakes. Came back from a near-fatal ailment to win his first, 1955 start by 14 lengths this week at New York. His derby odds were promptly chopped from 6-1 to 5-2. Owned by Mrs. John Galbreath, wife of the president of the Pittsburgh baseball team, Eric Guerin, who won the 1947 derby with Jet Pilot, is his rider.

SWAPS: California fans are hoping this colt will duplicate Dertamine's victory in last year's Rose Run. Won the Santa Anita Derby earlier this year and now the third choice at 4-1. Owned by Rex Ellsworth, a Far West cattle baron. Champion Jockey Willie Shoemaker has signed to handle the chestnut colt on Derby Day.

TRENTONIAN: Handsome but flighty son of Blenheim II. Won two stake races last year, but was second in the Florida Derby. Was bred on the Virginia farm of his owner, Mrs. Marion Du Pont Scott. Odds: 20-1. Probable jockey: Ted Atkinson.

Senior Class Play Well Presented To Near Capacity Audience at HTS

By CLIFFORD DAVENPORT
Last night at Bonnell gym the Senior class of the Harrisburg Township high school delighted a near capacity audience with a sparkling performance of John Patrick's three-act comedy, "The Curious Savage." The entire production was under the supervision of Mrs. Lolo Eddy, whose excellent plays have entertained Harrisburg audiences for twenty years, and the show was carried off smoothly and with precision.

The play takes place in a home for the mentally ill, where Mrs. Ethel Savage, eccentric philanthropist and self-styled actress, is being committed by her three greedy stepchildren, whose sole fear is that their generous stepmother will soon give away the family's millions. The friends Mrs. Savage makes at the home and her hilarious methods of out-foxing her stepchildren furnish excellent dramatic material for this well-chosen cast.

Carrying the brunt of the load was Miss Judy Bell, who played the benevolent Mrs. Savage with all the confidence the role calls for, complete with sarcastic grimaces and a lovable sense of humor. Miss Judy Morse, who portrayed the empty-headed Fairy Mae, a patient at the home, also deserves special mention. Her characterization of the plain, imaginative girl who wants everyone to love her, was outstanding, and she literally stopped the show with some of her excellent line readings. Miss Mona Azar, Oren Brown and Carroll Clark were convincing in their difficult roles as mental patients who make us wonder if theirs is not the happiest lives to live. As Mrs. Paddy, a would-be artist with an aversion to everything from electricity to conversation, Miss Barbara Dunn did particularly well. Miss Jean Abney, the psychiatrist, and Miss Mona Healy, her assistant, play their roles with sympathy and understanding.

The three stepchildren, the blustering senator, Titus (Richard Baldwin), the often-wed society beauty, Lily Bell (Mona Wickham) and the frustrated judge, Samuel (Richard Applegate) were all played with the enthusiasm and excitement their roles demand.

The entire cast seemed to enjoy every minute of the play, as they romped through the funny episodes and brought the audience to tears.

in the pathetic final scenes. It was clear that these young actors had done more than just memorize many lines—they showed a knowledge of the playwright's ideas and an understanding of the people they were pretending to be. And this is, after all, a major purpose in teaching drama in the high school. Mrs. Eddy, her fine cast and back-stage crew should be commended on their excellent choice of a play and for the many hours of hard work that were evident to all who attended. It was a production of which the Senior class can be very proud.

The construction of the practical set was supervised by Mr. Parkhurst and Mr. Goben. Stage manager was Dick Childress and script holder was Miss Susie Grammer.

Before the play the cast honored Mrs. Eddy with a dinner at which they expressed their love and appreciation by presenting her with a pair of rhinestone earrings, a silk blouse and a beautiful corsage.
